Forty-nine new Fellows and two Honorary Fellows inducted into the Canadian Academy of Engineering

St. John's – (June 26, 2014) – President Richard J. Marceau inducted 49 new Fellows and two new Honorary Fellows into the Canadian Academy of Engineering on June 26, 2014. The ceremony took place in St. John's, in conjunction with the Academy's 2014 Annual General Meeting and Symposium. Dr. Marceau commented: "The Academy warmly welcomes its new Fellows, all of whom are engineers of exceptional ability. Each of these outstanding individuals of widely varying backgrounds, no matter whether they working in Industry, Academe and Government, has demonstrated the ability to perform beyond normal engineering practice and contribute in exemplary ways towards their respective disciplinary fields, and to the wider community. The Academy, which recently has published major reports in education, energy and innovation, looks forward to the valuable contributions these new Fellows will make in helping it inform the public policy debate in Canada for the benefit of all Canadians." Citations and photographs for each of the new inductees follow.

The Canadian Academy of Engineering (CAE) is the national institution through which Canada's most distinguished and experienced engineers provide strategic advice on matters of critical importance to Canada. The CAE is an independent, self-governing and non-profit organization established in 1987. Members of the CAE are nominated and elected by their peers to honorary Fellowships, in view of their distinguished achievements and career-long service to the engineering profession. Fellows of the Canadian Academy of Engineering are committed to ensuring that Canada's engineering expertise is applied to the benefit of all Canadians.

The Canadian Academy of Engineering works in close cooperation with other senior academies in Canada and internationally. It is a founding member of the Council of Canadian Academies, along with the Royal Society of Canada and the Canadian Academy of Health Sciences. The CAE works in close collaboration with the other members of the Canadian Engineering Leadership Forum which brings together representatives from Engineers Canada, the Engineering Institute of Canada, the Association of Consulting Engineering Companies - Canada, the National Council of Deans of Engineering, and the Canadian Federation of Engineering Students, all working together to ensure a safer, cleaner, healthier and more competitive Canada. The CAE is also a member of the International Council of Academies of Engineering and Technological Sciences, which includes some 26 similar national bodies around the world.
